PEORIA REFORMING

Let us no longer think that any sort of reform is impossible. An order has just gone into effect in Peoria whereby punch boards are banished from saloons, pool rooms and confectioneries. Think of it! Free and easy Peoria taking cognizance of this somewhat mild form of gambling. Certainly some sort of change is beginning to be felt in the city and next we will hear about closed Sunday saloons and then later, perhaps, about a dry Peoria.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE

At Avon the other day they gave a public funeral for a tramp. The citizens of the town closed their places of business for an hour and turned out in mass for the services, which were held in the largest church. There were music and flowers and all the honors possible were paid to the dead man. It all came about because the nameless wanderer, old and decrepit, had died from exposure under circumstances which greatly appealed to the public heart. It was just another proof that "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin."

A NEW IDEA IN PROHIBITION

One of the most drastic prohibition laws ever proposed is about to be passed in Utah. There is little doubt it will be a law because nearly all of the legislators were elected on dry declaration of principles and this applies also to the governor. The most conspicuous feature of the law is the provision for a prohibition commissioner, whose duty it will be to see that the law is enforced. This provision will answer the argument so often made against prohibition laws that enforcement is not impartially given because of the lack of sympathy of officials in some cities and counties. The Utah plan gives the commissioner full authority to direct local officials and to employ as many others as are needed to bring about strict law enforcement. This is certainly prohibition with a big P.

CARRANZA'S TEST TIME

Along with the news that the U. S. troops are preparing for their odds from Mexico comes the further news that the Villa forces are rapidly and steadily organizing to enter upon their conflict with the Carranza forces. The head of the de facto government is about to be confronted with his greatest task. If after all his efforts to get the U. S. troops out of the country, he is unable to protect the U. S. territory from depredations and the situation again becomes acute, he will have lost whatever prestige he may have been entitled to before, and his downfall will be rapid.

MORE TROUBLE FOR DANIELS.

Secretary Daniels succeeds in getting into a vast amount of trouble in the conduct of the navy department. There is no better illustration than in the matter of the bids for shells in which decidedly the lowest figures were presented by Hatfield Ltd., a British concern. This firm underbid the Bethlehem Steel company by about $200 per shell, and when these figures were made public Secretary Daniels hastened to criticize American firms for alleged effort to hold up their government and he also took occasion to declare that the American made shells were inferior in quality to those manufactured by the British.

Now the British government announces that permission will not be given the Hatfield company to manufacture shells on any American contract until after the war is over. The secretary therefore faces the necessity of letting the American firms do the manufacturing at the much higher figure or must delay securing this ammunition for several years while the government is erecting a plant for shell manufacture. This is another instance in which the secretary talked too soon and too much.

PREPARING FOR CENTENNIAL

That there is interest in the proposal to have Morgan county take a part in the state centennial celebration was clearly manifested by the attendance at the court house conference yesterday, called by county officers. The preliminary steps were taken for the naming of a general committee whose duty it will be to outline general plans co-operating with the state commission. To prepare for a local participation in the centennial which will be worthy of Jacksonville and Morgan county calls for a large amount of enthusiasm, vision and work. Nothing will come of the whole proposition unless there follows the co-operative effort of a great many people genuinely interested. In some affairs the whole work can be delegated to a few people and a large number can hold honorary positions.

Not so with the centennial celebration. It's too big a proposition for figureheads and drones. It calls for active, earnest, intelligent work. There is every reason to believe that plenty of such material will be available when the committee has worked out a cohesive plan of organization and work. A great deal of benefit can come from proper participation in the centennial. Young people can be impressed as never before with the splendid history of this county and state—can be made to understand anew their debt to the pioneers and to look forward with higher ideals of citizenship.

WAR PROTECTS AMERICAN INDUSTRY

To show how the war and the Allied blockade have played the part of a protective tariff proxy, consider the three countries Austria, Belgium and Germany. Belgium has been well-nigh destroyed industrially, although she will rise again from her ashes when the war is over and the Allies have accomplished her restoration. Austria and Germany have been tied in a double knot by the blockade.

During the first 11 months of 1916, our total imports from these three countries amounted to $7,000,000, during the 1915 period they were $11,000,000, and during the 1914 period, seven months peace conditions, $185,000,000.

The bulk of our imports from these three countries consist of manufactured products, and their exceedingly low wage scales enable them to compete with our own manufacturers to a degree which threatens the stability of certain of our industries, under the Democratic tariff policy. For instance, during the fiscal year 1914, nine months of which was under the low duties of the present law, and before the war broke out, our imports of window glass, unpolished, from Belgium, increased 40 per cent, compared with the fiscal year 1913, while imports of plate glass, etc., more than doubled. Likewise, imports of cotton knit goods from Germany showed a marked increase, and so on down the line of manufactured goods.

But notwithstanding the protection which war and blockade have afforded us from these three competitors, our total imports of manufactures ready for consumption, and for further use in manufacture, during the first 11 months of 1916 totaled $691,256,000, compared with $694,760,000 during the first 11 months of 1913, nine of which were under the protective tariff law.

What would have been the total had these three countries been free to invade our market, paying the tariff-for-less-than-revenue rates, and the rest of Europe concerned wholly with production, instead of with destruction?

IS FEDERAL RESERVE BANK ACT A FAILURE?

The Springfield Journal in an editorial with the above heading quotes some instances to prove that the federal reserve bank act is by no means equaling the claims made for it by the administration. The Journal says:

"Federal reserve banks were established as banks for bankers only, but after brief trial of the system the bankers are beginning to show their dissatisfaction with the law by surrendering their national bank charters in order to withdraw from the federal reserve bank and be released from its burdens. 'An eastern banking journal calls special attention to the fact that during the first seventeen days of November the state of Massachusetts issued nineteen charters to state banks and that fourteen of these were national banks changing to state banks. 'Commenting upon the situation in this state a well-known downtown banker recently remarked that he has failed to find a country banker in Illinois who is satisfied with the law.

"As the federal reserve banks are now operated it is costing a medium-sized national bank from two thousand to four thousand dollars a year to maintain its membership, and country bankers naturally are beginning to ask themselves whether the supposed benefits are worth what they cost. Judging from the number of changes that have been made and are in prospect, from the national to the state charter system, the bankers seem to think the federal reserve system is not worth to them what it costs to stay in.

"Some of the federal reserve banks have not earned expenses and have been necessary to ask the national banks in their districts to make up the deficiencies. This added burden clearly makes the expense of operating federal reserve banks away out of proportion for the business conducted.

"Dissatisfaction with the system is understood to be widespread in Illinois. Although no exodus has been started in this state, many bankers are seriously considering the subject and there will be no occasion for surprise if Illinois should follow in the near future the action taken in Massachusetts."

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

The Rich Man

The rich man, in the distilleries of sin and tricks and guile, dishonestly he gets his pile. Wealth is for him the only lure; he has no patience with the poor; that he may gain his place on deck, he steps upon his brother's neck. He is a pirate and a fraud; the law should strip him of his wad. We applaud this sort of stuff, and hail the scribbles, "Lay on, MacBuffs!" We yell "hooray" and wave our hats, and help to roast the plutocrats. And while we cuss the wealthy lads, we're busy hustling for the seeds. We bust suspenders every day, in fear a plunk will get away. The more we get the more we need; we have the rich man's grasping greed, without the virtuous skill he owns for gathering the shining beads. And that is why he has our hate; we're down on any soulless skate who takes in plunks where we've got times; we can't forgive his godless crimes.

Deceased was the son of James and Josie Connor, and was born forty six years ago on a farm near Woodson. When he was a little over a year old he went with his parents to live in Greene county and practically all of his life had been spent on a farm in the Roodhouse neighborhood. It was something over a year ago that he removed to the farm in the Scottville vicinity, where his death occurred.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR REV. FRANK READ

Dr. R. O. Post Had Charge of Impressive Rites Commemorating the Life of Beloved Minister and Educator.

Impressive funeral services for Rev. Frank Read were held Friday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the Congregational church, where many years ago there was established by the deceased one of three churches of that denomination in this country. The services were in charge of the Rev. R. O. Post, who took for his scripture reading, Hebrews II, "the hero chapter of the Bible," well befitting the memory of a man whose whole life had been one of struggle and who had overcome every adverse circumstance by the power of an unconquerable spirit.

The sermon, together with the hymns, which were read by the pastor, were interpreted for the deaf friends present by Mrs. L. O. Vaughn. The floral tributes were under the care of Mrs. E. Cleary, Mrs. H. A. Mulholland, Mrs. Thomas Cranwill and Mrs. Alvin Snyder.

After the service at the church the body was taken to Diamond Grove cemetery where burial was made. A brief service for members of the family was held at the home of Mrs. S. H. Cleary, before the body was taken to the church. The bearers were E. P. Cleary, George H. Putnam, D. W. George, Alvin Snyder, Thomas Cranwill and H. A. Mulholland.

In the address of Dr. Post, which was filled with a deep appreciation of the devoted Christian life and sterling character of Mr. Read, mention was made of his ordination to the ministry in 1883 and of his faithful labors as a minister of the gospel. Dr. Post mentioned also the founding of the Deaf Mute Advancement fund of Mr. Read's Diamond Grove.

Frank Read, superintendent of the North Dakota school for the deaf, died Friday morning after a long illness of two months' duration.

When Mrs. Lindsey's illness first began her children after consultation with the physician, decided to take her to the home of her daughter in Virginia, where she received the best care available. However, as her condition grew steadily worse it was decided to take her to the Jacksonville hospital. There everything possible was done for her but in a week's time the end came. Her sister, Mrs. G. R. Holmes of Kirksville, Mo., and the two daughters were with Mrs. Lindsey when the end came, and one son had been at the bedside just a short time before.

Nannie E., daughter of Allen and Keziah Stockton was born on the Stockton homestead, four miles east of Litchberry, Ill., Aug. 15, 1857, where she grew to womanhood. In 1875 she was united in marriage to Calvin Acres, at the home of her parents. To this union two children were born, Albert, who resides in Ashland, Ill., and a daughter who died in infancy. In 1880 Mr. Acres passed from earth, and in 1883 she married Wickliffe Lindsey. To them three children were born: Oliver, who lives on the Lindsey homestead, Mrs. Earl Petefish, and Mrs. Verne Johnson, both of Virginia.

Mr. Lindsey died in 1915, since which time the deceased has made her home with Oliver, whose wife died in 1910, leaving him with three small children, whom she loved and cared for with a devotion rarely equaled. They will sadly miss "Grandma's" loving ministrations.

She united with the Christian church at Litchberry, Sept. 1893, under the preaching of Evangelist H. C. Patterson and was baptized by Rev. S. A. Strawn. Ever faithful in her quiet, unobtrusive way to her home and church duties, she has bequeathed a priceless heritage. She made the world better by her living in it, and has been called to her eternal reward.

Of her it may truly be said, "She hath done what she could."

She is survived by four children, nine grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters: Morgan, New Berlin; S. D. Litchberry; Mrs. G. R. Holmes, Kirksville, Mo.; Mrs. S. D. Smith, McLeansboro; Samuel, Chicago, and Mrs. Frances Miller, DeKalb.

She had four half-brothers and three half-sisters, three of whom are living: Mrs. Sarah Merica and Mrs. Eliza Harris of Benedict, Neb., and one half-brother, G. A. Stockton, of Virginia, besides numerous relatives and friends who will long miss her from their midst.

A devoted mother, a kind, loving sister, a Christian friend and neighbor has ceased to labor and entered into rest, whose good works will go on and on into eternity.

The family desire to express sincere thanks to all who kindly assisted them through her illness and death—A life-long friend of Mrs. Lindsey, Mrs. H. M. L. Jumper, of Ashland.

Funeral services for Mrs. Nannie E. Lindsey were held Wednesday at 11:00 a. m., from the late home, where a large company of sorrowing relatives and friends gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one so well beloved.

Rev. C. G. Cantrell, a former pastor, now located at Concord, conducted the service in his usual impressive manner reading the scripture lessons from that beautiful 14 chapter of John, the latter part of the 15th chapter of I Cor., and Rev. 22, 10-21. He spoke some very comforting words to the sorrowing ones in his discourse, invoking the blessing of God in a sympathetic prayer upon the entire assembly.

A quartet from the Christian church at Litchberry sang the following selections very tenderly: "Come Into Me," "We are Going Down the Valley," "Some Day We'll Understand" and "I Will Sing You a Song of That Beautiful Land."

The beautiful floral offerings were cared for by Misses May Martin and Mabel Johnson.

Burial was in Yatesville cemetery, the bearers being J. W. Martin, Thomas Lahay, Henry Lamular, George W. Ratliff, B. A. Johnson and Albert Crum.

PREPARE FOR MORGAN'S PART IN CENTENNIAL

Preliminary Meeting Held at Call of County Officers—Committee Suggested To Outline Plans.

Preliminary steps were taken Friday at a meeting called to discuss the question of Morgan county's participation in the centennial exercises of Illinois. In accordance with the suggestion of the centennial commission a committee of county officers issued a call for this meeting which was held in the office of the county judge. The officers designated by the initial steps in each county are the county judge, state's attorney, superintendent of schools, county clerk and chairman of the board of commissioners.

Committee Will Be Named. Accordingly the call here was issued by Judge Thomson, County Clerk Boruff, State's Attorney Robinson, Supt. of Schools Vasconcellos and David Wilson, chairman of the county board. There were twenty or more people present and the entire subject was discussed informally after Dr. Edward Bowe, a member of the state centennial commission, had told something of the ideas and plans of the commission. As a result of this discussion a motion made by Mayor Rodgers and seconded by Mrs. Worthington and Dr. Harker, was carried and the county committee will include the county representatives of civic and patriotic organizations and clubs.

This morning the county committee, of which Judge W. E. Thomson is chairman, will meet and select the other members of the committee. Later this larger committee will draw up constitution and bylaws, which will indicate in a general way the line of centennial observance in this county.

Observances of Wide Scope. Dr. Bowe in his remarks told something of the ideas of the members of the commission. It is their hope that the observance of the anniversary may take such form that it will be of permanent value along educational lines. It is the expectation that each county or locality will proceed along some particular line suggested by the material available. In the case of the University of Illinois and with other educational institutions, pageantry is expected to have a large place. In some cities the preparations are already under way and in general it is expected that the centennial observance will continue for the entire year of 1918 throughout the state.

In many localities some special days or weeks will be devoted to centennial observances and in addition various organizations are expected to have their individual programs. It is expected, for example, that the G. A. R., the D. A. R. and the Woman's club and some other societies and organizations will plan as such to have their separate part in the observance, in addition to doing their part in connection with any general program.

State Commission Will Aid. The state commission can aid the county organizations with suggestions and hopes also to be in position to give to counties the services of artists or pageant directors for at least a few days' time. The commission has already arranged with a number of specialists to devote some time to assisting with the Illinois programs. There will, in addition, be various special features which the commission is planning and it is expected that still others will be added as further plans are perfected. It is the hope among other things to have an Illinois film, a motion picture which will embody in very striking form the most important events in the history of the state. With the completion of this film other plans will be perfected whereby everybody in the state will have the opportunity at one time or other of seeing this pictorial history.

Altogether the plans of the commission mean that the state is to have a centennial observance worthy of its past—an observance which will teach lasting lessons to the younger generation and impress anew upon older citizens the greatness and the grandeur of their state.

CENTENARY SERVICE WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

Custom of Having No Meeting Saturday Night Will Not Be Followed—Good Sermon Friday.

Somewhat out of the ordinary, services were announced for the usual hour on Saturday evening at Centenary church. It has been the practice in this city to rest on Saturday but arrangements have been made to carry these services without interruption until Sunday, Feb. 4.

No cottage prayer meetings have been announced for today. The reports for those held Friday morning showed that they were well attended and that the usual interest was manifested.

"Christ's Supreme Claim" was the subject of the sermon Friday night which was one of the best of the series. It was based on Luke 14-27, "Whoever doth not bear his cross and come after me cannot be my disciple." These are seemingly hard words, said the speaker, but they are really a discussion of the greatest question of life. It is easy to follow the lines of least resistance but to bear crosses and follow the line of duty is the test of character. Milton was warned by his physician that the ardor with which he engaged in his literary work, writing his defense of the English people would result in his blindness but this in no way lessened his effort in their behalf.

One of the great needs of this life is to see things in the right proportion and proper relation. The child cries for the moon not realizing how far away it is. Spiritual relation and proportion are as important as those in the material world; for spiritual illusions are fatal.

The day of the multitude has passed and the day of the individual is here. This was part of the great mission of the Christ to emphasize and magnify the importance of the individual.

Jesus cannot be hid because he is the world's supreme need and each individual's personal need. He must be first in our affections, time, money and service.

While he lived two thousand years ago, he lives today and worked out the great problems of today. Often in school work a difficult problem is solved and arouses the keenest interest on the part of those studying the subject. The principles laid down by our Lord and Master are as potent in solving the problems of this life as the day when they were declared to the world. We cannot build a single day without him.

The first reinforced concrete building was erected in Cincinnati. This has revolutionized architectural construction.

Christ's claim on our lives for his service is the reinforcement that will give character to the individual and to humanity.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE WAS HELD FRIDAY

Address Made by Supt. Perrin, Principals Callahan and Ragland—Theme of Educational Interest Discussed

The meeting of the Morgan county teachers' association at the David Prince building yesterday attracted the instructors from all parts and looking over the audience one would have good cause to be proud of the persons to whom is committed the training of the county's rising generation.

The president, Miss Besse Hart of the Murrayville school, occupied the chair and the secretary, Miss Gertrude Stainforth of Lynnville, read the minutes of the preceding meeting. Miss Edna Wardhaugh, teacher in the Jacksonville public schools, gave an exhibition with her pupils, in fifth grade singing which was greatly enjoyed, after which county superintendent H. H. Vascconcellos, gave an excellent account of the meeting of the state association. It was evident he had attended the meeting to some purpose and he gave in a concise form the results of his observations which were valuable.

Miss Louise Mansfield then introduced a class and gave an illustration of sixth grade singing which was greatly appreciated and enjoyed.

The gathering was then divided into sections, one remaining to hear Superintendent Perrin of the Jacksonville city schools speak on geography in grades while another adjourned to a room across the hall to hear T. W. Callahan, principal of the Jacksonville high school and E. W. Ragland, principal of the Waverly schools discuss how to study from the pupils' standpoint and how to teach from the teachers' standpoint. Prof. Perrin said in brief:

The Transition Period
We are in a transition period and great changes are going on. We have been doing a great many useless things in the past as well as useful.

We have been trying to teach the children adult knowledge on an adult basis. We should strive to give the children that will make them better citizens. They should know what is most worth while. We need the vital things of life. The training of the teacher is necessary to the full development of the child. Geography used to consist of air, water and land. Earth is the home of man and we should try to make life livable. We have mathematical, physical and mental features to study.

It is little use to drill into a child merely locations, places, productions and the like for they are soon forgotten. There are five divisions, observation, representation, description, rational and social. We should pay attention to such things as trees, rocks, flowers, animal and plant life, homes, fruits, gardens, seasons, etc. We need much out door exercise, sleeping as nearly out of doors as possible, bring together what the child has used, use other methods of instruction as well as books. Teachers should know what is of more importance than books alone but should add travel stories, railroad maps and guides, each map drawing and in many ways have the pupil gain what will be of most actual use in life.

Standardizing Schools
Mr. Callahan principally discussed Dr. Whipple's book which deals especially on the theme how to study. He used what is known as the Bell curve, a diagram used somewhat extensively, showing that in the average school ten per cent of the pupils make an average or less than 75 per cent, 17 per cent between 75 and 80, 16 per cent between 80 and 85, 17 per cent between 85 and 90, 17 per cent above 90. He remarked that he had been using this method in standardizing the schools under him but the figures shown did not apply to Jacksonville.

Mr. Ragland of the Waverly schools asked the association to hold its next meeting, to be some time in March, in Waverly and the invitation was accepted and it was decided to have a banquet.

Mr. Minnie Clary was presented and asked for full reports from all schools to which red cross seals had been sent for sale. She said the school doing the best, 16 1-2 seals sold per pupil, was the school of district No. 2, taught by Miss Meda Darby who was asked to come forward and receive the prize, a handsome picture.

At the afternoon session the association was entertained by Miss Lucille Fox of the Illinois Conservatory of Music with a vocal solo fine rendered. Miss Marceline Armstrong of the Woman's College gave an excellent reading and Willard Wagner of the Illinois Conservatory of Music favored the gathering with a piano solo.

Dr. H. D. Hoover, president of Carthage college was unable to be present as announced and Supt. Perrin ably occupied the time with an address, "The Philosophy of the Life of a Teacher." The speaker took high ground insisting that the teacher should be well equipped with a sound body, take much open air exercise, give careful thought to the work, love it and enjoy it, follow it not so much for profit as from a desire to do good and the rewards will be great.

SHERMAN SPENCER'S HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE
Fire which started about 8:45 o'clock Friday night totally destroyed the residence of Sherman Spencer, 1116 South East street. The structure was known as the old Spencer property and was one of the oldest houses on South East street.

The Spencer family were away from home when the fire started and the alarm was turned in by neighbors. When the flames were discovered such headway had been gained that when the department arrived there was no chance of saving anything.

The house and contents were a total loss. It is not known whether or not Mr. Spencer carried insurance.

FARM HAND DIES FROM KICK BY HORSE

B. F. Drummond, Employed on Sinclair Farm, Received Injuries On Thursday Evening Which Later Resulted in Death—Autopsy and Inquest Held.

B. F. Drummond, employed on the farm of A. M. Sinclair a few miles north of Alexander, died suddenly Friday morning at 10 o'clock as a result of a kick from a horse. It was Thursday afternoon when the accident happened. Immediately afterward the injured man was attended at the Sinclair home by Dr. Wade Schott. The injured man was in great pain but everything possible was done for his relief and the physician believed that he would recover. Friday morning Mr. Drummond felt so much better that he wanted to sit up and it was as he was being assisted to a chair that he suddenly reeled backward and fell to the floor dead.

Coroner Rose was notified of the happening and impounded a jury consisting of E. E. Mason, John Snyder, K. V. Bearup, John W. Aulbaugh, Clarence Lamerson and J. Harry Bearup. The first witness was A. M. Sinclair, who testified that the injured man came from the barn Thursday evening and said that a horse kicked him in the abdomen. The witness said that Drummond seemed to be in great pain and that a physician was immediately summoned. Dr. Schott, the physician who attended Mr. Drummond, was the next witness and told of attending him after the accident. The physician said that there was no external injury but a superficial laceration two inches in length on the upper internal surface of the right thigh. The autopsy held Friday afternoon by the physician in the presence of the jury indicated a perforation of the small part of the intestine had been caused by the kick of the horse.

After hearing this testimony the jury returned a verdict to the effect that death resulted from the cause indicated.

Mr. Drummond who was a married man, had recently moved to the Alexander neighborhood from Naples to work on the Sinclair farm. The remains will be taken to Naples this afternoon and the funeral will be held there Monday morning.

Get at The Source of Your "Skin Diseases"

Don't be misled by this term, for the appearance of pimples, boils or rashes indicate something more serious than a mere "breaking out" of the skin. These eruptions are, in reality, signals from nature that the blood is impoverished, debilitated and in need of help. Of course you can sometimes drive away the infected places by applying a salve or lotion, but unless you treat them through the medium of the blood, they will occur again and again.

S. S. S. has proven its wonderful building and tonic properties in thousands of cases arising from disorders of the blood. It washes the poisons from the system and aids the blood in its work of cleansing and invigorating the body organs, throwing off waste matter, and keeping the body in a normal, healthy condition.

ABEL CONFESSES THEFT AT STRAWN HOME

Accused and His Companion Sold
Auto Boiler Worth $125 for $1—
One Can of Lard Shipped and the Other Sold.

Ross Abel who was arrested in Springfield Thursday on the charge of stealing two cans of lard and an automobile from Jacob Strawn was brought to the city Friday morning. He was taken before Justice Dyer and waived examination and was placed under bond in the sum of $800. Being unable to furnish the bond he was committed to the county jail.

Friday morning Abel made a full confession of the theft to Chief of Police Davis and State's Attorney Robinson. Abel implicates another man who is well known in Jacksonville. The police are withholding the name of this man as it is hoped to have him under arrest soon.

Abel and the man whom he implicated hired a local automobile driver to drive them to the residence of Mr. Strawn. After going there they had the driver take them to White Hall. Here they sold the automobile boiler to a junk dealer named Lyman for $1.

Friday Detective Perry White, A. C. Reid, president of the Anti-Horse Thief association and Jacob Strawn, Jr., went to White Hall in quest of the boiler. They were armed with a search warrant but it was not needed as Mr. Lyman the junk dealer gave the article up. It was sent by express to this city and is now at the police station.

One of the cans of lard was sold by Abel to M. D. Shanahan of East State street. When Mr. Shanahan learned that the lard had been stolen he turned it over to the police. Abel said he received $7.20 for the can and that he gave the man who was implicated with him the money.

Abel and his companion after going to White Hall sent the driver of the car home and they remained at Roodhouse and came home on the train. The other can of lard according to Abel was shipped to some one in Granite City.

A rifle which was also stolen from Mr. Strawn was found in White Hall last evening.

FEEDING EIGHTY STEERS AT THE DIETRICH FARM

Owner Bought Them Albin Schuyler
County — Excellent Equipment
Makes Work of Feeding Easy.

George Dietrich of Concord is a Morgan county farmer and feeder who has been successful thru many years and still continues in the business. Mr. Dietrich in these latter years has specialized more in stock cattle than with fat cattle. He has his farm equipped for feeding stock and grass cattle and finishes them in this way for the market. He knows of various men who have made a success in feeding at cattle but in his own case says that he has the best success with hay, ensilage and grass. The present equipment that Mr. Dietrich has on his farm really came into existence because of the interest and enthusiasm of his son, Daniel Dietrich, and livestock lines. Several years ago he son was a student at the University of Illinois, where he gave special attention to agriculture and livestock themes.

The Value of An Idea. When he returned home young Dietrich said to his father that a silo and a big cattle barn were the things the farm needed. The father and son talked the project over for some weeks before coming to a definite plan and then after a second hand saw mill had been acquired, young Dietrich went to work and sawed out from the timber the framing lumber for a large barn. This lumber was put under cover until it became seasoned and some months after young Dietrich directed the work of erecting and fitting the big barn. The siding and roof were made of lumber purchased from a yard but all the other material was sawed out on the farm. The barn is 38 by 84 in general dimensions and there is plenty of room for the feeding of eighty head of cattle. That is the number that Mr. Dietrich is caring for this winter.

There are two silos stationed just north of the barn and with a carrier system the silage is moved down to the center of the building and then scattered in troughs or mangers on either side. A hallway runs thru the center of the building and it is wide enough to admit a threshing machine. By means of this machine one side of the immense hay loft is filled with straw by the blowing process. The other affords ample room for a big supply of hay. With this arrangement taking care of eighty head of steers is counted one of the farm chores because of the convenience of the arrangements. In other days before this equipment was used the work of taking care of these cattle would occupy practically all of one man's time and require the use of a team and wagon.

Feeding Hay and Silage. The straw is used for bedding and the cattle there now are being fed large quantities of clover and timothy hay, together with silage. When the spring season opens these cattle will be put on pasture and it is Mr. Dietrich's intention to market them some time during the summer, the time depending of course upon market conditions. All of these cattle were purchased by Mr. Dietrich during the month of October in Schuyler county and the average price was 7 cents a pound. They are all native cattle and comparatively of uniform quality, the occasionally it was necessary to buy some one animal which varied from the others. Sometimes Mr. Dietrich buys cattle in the markets but when he can get native cattle of the size and quality that he wants, very much prefers the home buying.

In talking about crop conditions yesterday, Mr. Dietrich said that farmers generally realize that a snow on the wheat would be of large advantage. This year he has seventy acres in wheat and twenty in rye. Although the season has not been considered of the most favorable kind, an examination recently showed that the roots of the plants were seemingly in good condition. This was true where the tops give every appearance that the plants have died. Snow would be more favorable for the crop but unless there is a period of thawing and freezing weather in February and March the indications are good for at least an average crop.

AUTO TRAIL INTERESTS CONSIDERED AT MEETING

Illinois Division of the Ocean to Ocean Highway Association Met in Springfield

The annual meeting of the Illinois division of the Ocean to Ocean Highway association was held in Springfield Thursday, A. L. French of this county being among those in attendance. Officers for the division were chosen as follows: president, George W. Hughes, Hume, Ill.; vice president, Fred A. Stone, Griggsville, Ill.; secretary-treasurer, Harry A. Schneider, Hannibal, Mo. An executive committee was appointed, composed of one member from each county, as follows: E. E. Williamson, Pike county; E. J. Heintz, Morgan county; R. H. McNulty, Sangamon county; A. M. Kenney, Macon county; George H. Vannier, Scott county; Carol Jones, Douglas county; Walter Berger, Platt county; E. O. Patrick, Edgar county.

The president and secretary of the division were instructed to attend the national organization meeting in St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 13 and 14. The commercial association of Springfield it is understood will endeavor to secure the next annual meeting of the association for Springfield.

The main address was made by S. E. Bradt, member of the state highway department, his subject being "Federal Aid for Good Roads." Another speaker was C. F. Adams of Chillicothe, Mo., president of the Pike's Peak Ocean to Ocean Highway association. In the course of his remarks Mr. Adams gave an interesting account of the extensions now being made to New York and San Francisco, and made a plea for the co-operation of the Illinois division.

Various reports made indicated extensive improvements on state highways during the past year and still other improvements in prospect. Chief among the improvements completed was that of the Illinois river crossing, which has been the source of considerable trouble in past years. A high road has been built on each side of the river, making impossible any overflow, and enabling passengers to disembark from the ferry, no matter what the stage of the river.

TWO FIRE ALARMS
The fire department was called to the residence of Mrs. J. B. Wharton, 153 Pine street, Friday afternoon at 10 o'clock. Sparks from a chimney had started a fire in the roof. The blaze was extinguished with but small damage. In making the run to this fire one of the tires on the chemical and hose wagon broke. Fortunately the wheel held together and the break was discovered just as the department started to return to headquarters. Some wire was secured and the wheel fixed up to get it to McDougall's shop where a new tire was put on. Chief Hunt has new wheels ordered for the wagon which will be put on as soon as they arrive.

At 11 o'clock the department received a call to the residence of T. E. Laurie 544 Brooklyn avenue where sparks had started a fire in the roof. Owing to the breaking of the tire of the hose wagon the run was made with the old hose reel. Mr. Laurie happened to be at home and by hard work kept the flames under control until the arrival of the department. But little damage was done. The property is owned by Mrs. J. M. Mitchell and was formerly owned by W. C. Wright.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES A COLD—NO QUININE "Page's Cold Compound" Ends Bad Colds or Grippe in a Few Hours

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Page's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store.

It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.—Adv.
